

Newel's Forced Sabbatical

This is one of my favorite photos of grandfather Newel K. Young. There is no doubting this was 1925 and that the home base was close to the Riverton Motor Company. Whether this vehicle was going to or coming from Utah we do not know, nor do we know who these folks are, except Grandpa of course. This was the year that Newel was said to be in Arizona “selling shoes.” What is being read from the book is subject to wonderful speculation. Supposing the man on the left to be a census taker some possible captions might read: “Your name is Newel Knight Who?” or “You have how many kids?” or “It says here in the Edmunds-Tucker Act...” or “It says right here in the Book of Moses that “Honest men must still earn their bread by the sweat of their...”
